REV. J. W. HYNES, S. J.
President, Loyola University

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

To The Loyola Student Body:

After four long years of civil war in which she fought a noble but losing fight, the South entered her bitterest days; justice unseated; blind passion and revenge in the saddle; civil rights denied the vanquished by a victorious foe; industry paralyzed; agriculture destroyed; her manhood dead or crippled, there was left to her only "the seed corn of the Confederacy." But that "seed corn of the Confederacy" entered those black days of Reconstruction with the same high courage pulsing in their hearts and shining in their eyes that their fathers and brothers had shown on the bloody field of Shiloh, in Chickamauga's woods and on the plains of Gettysburg. That "seed corn" rebuilt the South in the face of odds that only an impartial historian yet unborn will fully realize and clearly tell.

Today our country as a whole is entering a period of reconstruction. Inspired and instructed by the noble achievement of our forebears in the dark post-bellum days, we men of the South should lead the way. Confidence must be restored. The economic organization of the country must be rebuilt. The sluggish life-blood of commerce must be reinvigorated and again be sent coursing through the veins of the nation. This is a great task, a tremendous task, a task worthy of the sons of Lee and Jackson. You young men and women of Loyola must do your full share. The same deep patriotism that exalted your forefathers must burn in your hearts, the same unfaltering courage must drive your wills and your bodies in this new upbuilding of the nation. With God's blessing, the same success will crown your efforts.

Fight, fight, fight, you men of the South,
We hail your courage born of old.
Fight, fight, fight, like men of the South
Loyola's honor to uphold.
You men who fight and grin
And squarely play the game,
We know that you go in
A victory to claim.
So fight, fight, fight, you men of the South
For the old Maroon and Gold.

WWL—THE OLD AND THE NEW
IN BRIEF

By Ervin Viktor

THE comprehensive history of the Pioneer Radio Station WWL would entail a history of the Society of Jesus, since the roots of station WWL reach deeply into past Jesuit activities. Briefly, WWL is not only an authentic mouthpiece of New Orleans and the land of the Delta, but also the recognized mouthpiece of Loyola University of the South and all the cultural and moral influences which this Catholic Institution represents. And, incidentally, WWL, through the careful fostering of the Jesuit Fathers, has become an institution of which New Orleans and Louisiana may well be proud.

Father Anthony Kunkel, S.J., can be credited with being the actual pioneer of WWL. As far back as 1907, Father Kunkel erected an aerial on the University grounds for the reception of dot and dash messages, an equipment that was soon augmented and supplemented by a dot and dash, or spark, transmitter. In fact, we infer from our source of information, that practically every type of transmitter and receiver used commercially have had their day at Loyola University, such as the spark gap, the quenched gap and the arc transmitter. And, continues our source of information, from the modest five-watt composite vacuum tube set, employing the Hartley-Heising Circuit, on up to the employment of low level 100 per cent modulation, crystal control master oscillator type, the University has ever endeavored to keep abreast of every advance in radio, her endeavors culminating, recently, in her new standard RCA, 10-kilowatt transmitter and studios (10,000 watts). From the way in which, from such small beginnings, Station WWL has been so carefully and intelligently nursed along, it isn't too much to expect that Loyola and WWL will continue to adopt and make their own whatever in the line of improvements in radio transmission, both short wave and television, the future may hold.

The new WWL, that lusty baby, which was officially blessed and christened last October 2nd with proper ceremonies conducted by His Grace Archbishop Shaw, remains under the continued faculty direction of Father Hynes, S.J., Father Wallace Burk, S.J., and Father Abell, S.J. It has made its voice felt all over the United States and even in such remote corners of the world as the Hawaiian Islands, Alaska, Canada, Mexico, Central America and New Zealand and Australia. But WWL has a personality, as a major broadcasting unit, quite apart from the protectorate of Loyola University and the Jesuit Fathers, and that is the personnel of the broadcasting station itself. This personnel includes the studio executive, the very able Captain Pritchard, and his program staff under the directorship of Mr. Leonard Drueding, those three very capable and popular announcers, Mr. James Willson, Mr. George Nungesser and Mr. Richard Scott, and the many, many artists that supply the daily programs of station WWL.

Under the immediate and understanding directorship of Father Wallace Burk and Captain Pritchard, the individual genius of the regular staff of WWL and the many commercial and sustaining artists has been able to develop and flourish in a manner that best serves and represents the character and the interests of our city and state. The public service of station WWL is reflected in the excellent programs broacast daily from the splendid studios in the Roosevelt Hotel and from Loyola University, while the future of station WWL is foreshadowed in the caliber of the present directorship of the station. That future, we believe, holds untold possibilities of service of a national scope.

A. U. trials. Roland Romero, hop, step and jumper and member of the American Olympic team, is shown in the insert.

OLYMPICS

When the United States issued the call for her prominent athletes to represent her in the famous games revived from the days of Ancient Greece, Loyola was there to offer the best of material and to send into the elimination competition four of her premiere performers of the paths and squared circle.

Emmett Toppino, holder of the National Indoor 50-yard dash record, the Southern A. A. U. 100-yard dash record, member of the American Visiting Athletes in 1931 who traveled the European continent and the great expanse of Africa, where he won the South African Championship, was one of the wearers of the American banner.

Roland Romero, a dark horse, developed by Tad Gormley and brought about in one year to win and establish an American record in the hop-step-and-jump event, was the other representative of the track and field that answered the call.

To the squared circle went Eddie Flynn, the outstanding welterweight in America, holder of the S. A. A. U. championship for two years, the winner of the international bouts in New York City when he defeated the European champion in two rounds, and a boaster of the record of 145 fights without a defeat, went forward to uphold his record and bring honor to the United States and his school.

Thick into the fight they entered and when the clouds of battle had rolled away, Eddie was proclaimed the Amateur Welterweight Champion of the world, the winner of the Olympics and thereby received the greatest honor that can be bestowed upon an amateur athlete.

Toppino, beaten by inches in the finals, was a member of the American relay team that set a new world record in the 400-meter relay.

Romero was beaten out of the title by the leaping Japanese, but he forced them to set a new world record to deprive him of the victory.

We must here pay tribute to that congenial coach and trainer, Tad Gormley, to whom a great deal of credit must go for the success of the Loyola athletes. His interest in them and his hard work has brought glory to his boys, himself and Loyola University.

McHardy, Schiro

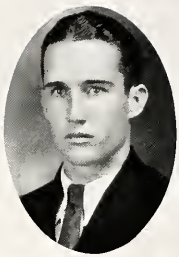
LOYOLA PEP

It was the Monday after the opening of classes that cheerleaders, McHardy and Schiro, called an assembly of the Freshmen and explained the "Pep" plan of 1932-1933. Lawrence Babst, President of the Council, spoke on the necessity of backing activities and then the Frosh were sent through a practice in yelling. They have made their letters, for the way they yelled at all our games, at parades, and other gatherings where such demonstrations were the thing of the moment, no one will deny that they were extending themselves.

Along with the "yelling" frosh comes the Loyola Band. Before the games they paraded. They met the visiting teams at the station and saluted them with music. At the games they provided entertainment, not only for the students but for the spectators as well.

With the parades and pep meeting go the parties given by the L. A. S. C. and the gym dances sponsored and conducted by the Gym Dance Committee as well as Loyola Nights at the downtown theatres.

It was through these means that we built up the prevailing spirit that is known at Loyola today, the spirit that enabled us to travel to Houston and out-yell the Rice supporters. Thus we stand ready to pay tribute to those men who helped build it up, to Bill McHardy and A. P. Schiro, III; and also to the Student Council, the L. A. S. C., and the countless others that contributed an unknown share, we rise in salute.



Shaughnessy, Gormley, Lopez

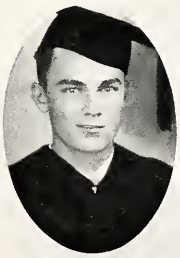
THE BOARD OF STRATEGY

We, of Loyola of the South, boast of one of the best football coaches in America today, one of the best trainers, and a group of assistants that any university would be proud to call theirs.

Clark D. Shaughnessy, head football coach at Loyola, is a graduate of the University of Minnesota, and one-time ALL AMERICAN tackle. He is rated as one of the most feared offensive coaches in the game today, and in a recent coaches' rating issued under the auspices of the leading sports writers he was selected among the first seven in America. Among those selected with Shaughnessy were: Howard Jones of Southern California, Lou Little of Columbia, Gil Dobie of Cornell, Pop Warner of Sanford, Andy Kerr of Colgate, Bernie Bierman of Minnesota, and Clark D. Shaughnessy of Loyola of the South.

Tad Gormley, the official trainer of the Loyola athletes, the groomer of Eddie Flynn and Emmett Toppino, and recognized throughout the land as the dean of Southern track and field coaches, is that silver-haired gentleman whom the boys look up to and admire. Tad is a great lover of clean athletics and his influence on the boys is readily recognized. The great success of the Wolf track teams of the past years, our large number of boxing champions and the record holders is the greatest boost that could be given the congenial Irishman.

Junior Lopez, a former star of the Pack, and perhaps one of the smartest quarterbacks ever developed by Coach Shaughnessy is assistant varsity backfield coach. Junior has been a great help and his knowledge and love of the game will help him go a long way in bringing great Wolf elevens to the fore.



Sehrt, Oertling

Weddle, Fitzwilliams, West

Clem Sehrt, another of the former Wolf linemen, is performing in the capacity of line coach. Everyone remembers Clem as that vital spark in the machine-like clicking of the 1930 Pack and their gridiron successes. If Clem can transmit some of that fire and pep that characterized his play to the boys under him, and we have only to warn the opponents.

Sewall Oertling, for the past three years the varsity football manager and one of the hardest workers that we have ever seen. He is on the job every day, and works as hard for victory off the field as the team that is battling within the boundaries of the battleground. Sewall climaxed his managerial career with the Detroit game and he will be missed next year.

Ham Weddle, the mentor of the frosh, has shown his capabilities by leading them to three victories over strong elevens this year. Ham is particularly noted for sizing up the position for the man or vice-versa. He certainly gets 'em ready for the varsity grind.

"Scrappy" Al Fitzwilliams, a little bit of dynamite aids in directing the football activities in the capacity of assistant line-coach and director of the scrubs.

"Shorty" West, a well-known fixture of the campus, is general helper and grounds superintendent, whose work on the gridiron has brought us the title of possessing one of the finest playing fields in America.

We should go incomplete to the press if we failed to mention the name of Max P. Romain, who is always on hand to offer his bit in bringing greater glory to the university. A stronger supporter to Loyola we are at wits end to find.

1932 FOOTBALL REVIEW

ST. EDWARDS

The Pack opened its season with the St. Edwards aggregation on the night of September 16 and their debut was most favorable. They trounced the Micks to the tune of 32-0. The game played before six thousand fans was slow in starting, but gradually the power of the Wolf machine began to assert itself and they swept through the visitors' defense to roll up the score. Zelden started the scoring with a jaunt off tackle and he was quickly followed with great offensive threats by Miller, Lopez, Majoue and the Jones boys.

MISSISSIPPI COLLEGE

The Pack took their second victim into camp the following Friday night when they defeated a hard-fighting Mississippi College eleven, 6-0. The lone Wolf marker came after a penalty put the Wolves on their own 26 yard mark with 25 to go for first down. Zelden let go a long pass to Love which netted 25 yards. Two tries at the line brought the ball to the Choctaw 47 yard line and first down. Then three consecutive first downs brought the ball to the Mississippi 12 yard mark and Zelden took it over from the four after Ed Jones had gathered eight with a sweeping run. Jerry Sullivan stood out in the line play and was closely followed by Falvora, Ballatin and Carey.

Majoue, Booth, Seeber, Jones, Benit

BIRMINGHAM-SOUTHERN

This was the game for the fullbacks. Arnie Lopez and Denny Miller were the stand-outs in the fray. After Seeber had returned a punt 53 yards and several line plays had brought the ball within scoring distance, Lopez went over for the first score. Miller cut back off tackle later in the game for 32 yards and a touchdown.

The Panthers were constantly threatening with their wicked passing attack, and the Maroons were forced to fight desperately to prevent them from scoring. For Loyola, Ballatin and Tullos stood out in the line, while Allbrook and O'Neil were the shining lights for the visitors. Score, Loyola, 12; Birmingham, 0.

BAYLOR

The Wolves met their first thorn in the side for the 1932 season when they encountered the Golden Bears from the plains of Texas and bowed to them, 18-0.

Fighting brilliantly, after a long Baylor pass had given the Texans the lead in the first quarter, the locals brought the ball 80 yards down the field in a sustained drive that featured the powerful plunges of Arnie Lopez and the running of Zelden and Paul Jones. When the Pack reached the 5 yard line the Baylor defense tightened up. It was then that Coach Shaughnessy sent Cop Cop Smith in to tie the score. Clarence started around the right and brought the ball to the two yard line. With last down and two to go, he was sent on a long, sweeping end run. Amid the cheering of the excited crowd, he seemingly swept over the goal; however the ball was given to Baylor on the six inch line, as the officials claimed that he had stepped out of bounds.

Romero, Kaack, Sarpy, Beter, Love

The remainder of the third quarter and early fourth found the defense of both teams clicking to perfection. With some minutes yet to go, the Pack attempted to snatch victory and opened a furious passing attack. Baylor intercepted two and ran both for touchdowns. The game brought out the great repulsive attack that the Wolves maintained for running plays.

RICE

This was the game of games. Followed to Houston by 500 supporters and students, especially prepped for the conquerors of the Southwest Conference, aroused by pep meetings and determined to win, the Wolves of Loyola of the South took the field against the Owls of Rice in what turned out to be one of the most thrilling battles of the season. The Texans took an early lead after a series of passes and a brilliant run had netted them a touchdown. Again in the second quarter the Owls pushed over another score and many were ready to concede defeat. But such was not the case with Shaughnessy and the Pack. They came back at the half and unleashed a brilliant passing attack that carried them to the Rice 40 yard line. Zelden faded back and passed to Caillouet on the ten, who plunged over for the score. The play was called back and the Wolves penalized 25 yards for clipping. Thus robbed of a score, the Pack began another march in the last period that saw them drive 83 yards through the stubborn Rice defense for a touchdown. Paul Jones Passed to Caillouet for the extra point.

To name individual stars in the Rice game would be enumerating the names of the entire squad. They played as a man, backfield and line.

J. Sullivan, F. Sullivan, Ballatin, Favalora, L. Smith

ST. LOUIS

Maddened by the Rice loss, the Wolves made preparation to surely wreck the aspirations of the St. Louis Billikens and avenge the loss of last year. The St. Louis aggregation came here doped to win by at least three touchdowns. They were the champions of the Missouri conference for the past two years and were the same team that trounced the Pack, 32-0, last year. However, fans saw a brilliant Wolf eleven take the field that night and in perhaps one of the hardest played games in the South this year took place. When the clouds of battle had cleared away the Wolf standard was raised and the figures read: Loyola, 19; St. Louis, 0. The game was most colorful and the Loyola passing attack was a big factor in the victory. The first Wolf score came in the first few minutes of play, when line plunges from the 37 yard line by Zelden, Jones and Miller brought the ball within scoring distance from which point Miller went over for the touchdown. Sam "Monk" Zelden, Paul and Ed. Jones, Miller and Perry Booth were the standouts in the Wolf backfield, while Pierce Carey, Frank Sullivan and Sam Love stole the show in the line play.

XAVIER

The Musketeers from Cincinnati presented a stern wall and fighting defense to the Pack on their Northern invasion and held them to a 6-6 tie. The Xavier team scored first when they opened a passing attack in the second quarter that featured the arm of Kenny Jordan, halfback. At the half they were leading, six to nothing. Coming back at the beginning of the third quarter, Zelden passed to Love, who was brought down on the Xavier 10 yard line. Line plunges by Miller and Booth brought the ball to the six yard line from which point Lopez plunged over for the score. Henry Beter's place kick was unsuccessful. The remainder of the game found both teams fighting desperately to snatch victory.

Caillouet, Zaffater, Carey, Brown, Tullos

CHATTANOOGA

Displaying a versatile attack of effective blocking, running and passing, the Wolves downed the Moccasins of Chattanooga and in sending the champions of the S. I. A. A. down to defeat they avenged their 7-0 defeat handed them last year by the Tennessee aggregation.

The Wolves started strongly with the Zelden-Callouet combination bringing a score in the first few minutes of play. From this point until the final minutes of the game the light but fast Chattanooga team fought stubbornly and it was not until the last minutes of play that they succeeded in pushing over the second and final score. This last touchdown was featured by a 91-yard march from their own 9 yard line.

The stars of the Pack line were the Sullivans, Favalora, Lel Smith and Love. Paul and Ed. Jones, Arnie Lopez and Zelden were the stand-outs for the backs. The Wolves held the edge in first downs and were down under all punts to drop the carrier in his tracks.

OGLETHORPE

Following their example of the Chattanooga contest, the Pack continued their winning streak by downing the Oglethorpe Petrels, 20-0, in a thrilling contest.

Sam Love, the captain of the team for this encounter, continued his fine end play and gave the outstanding performance of the game. Miller, starting in the fullback position, went over for the first touchdown about midway of the first quarter. Lopez, relieving Miller, crashed over from the 8 yard line later in the same period.

The first score came after Sullivan's kickoff had bounced from the shin of a Stormy Petrel and had been recovered by "Beans" Carey. Four successive first downs with Zelden, Miller and Booth carrying the ball, placed it in position for Miller to carry it over for the score.

A. Winters, Berner, Ancaroni, Cefalu, Wheeler, Schmittz

The final quarter was featured with a sensational run and the final Wolf score. Clarence Smith, going into the game, took the ball on the first play, and behind beautiful interference and elusive side-stepping raced 65 yards for a touchdown. "Dunk" Beter place-kicked the extra point.

The Petrels presented a nice offensive team but were unable to cope with the power and deceptiveness of the Wolf eleven.

NORTH DAKOTA

Handicapped by the ravages of influenza and playing under the worst possible weather conditions, the fighting Pack went down to defeat before the big and powerful North Dakota Sioux to the tune of 18-6, Thanksgiving Day at the Loyola Stadium.

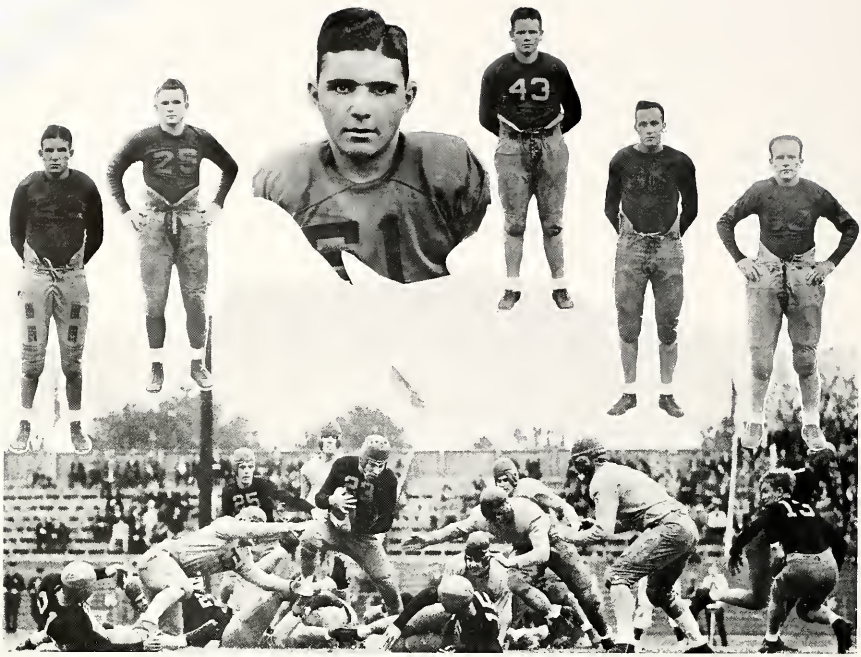
The Sioux met the Pack on a sea of mud and in a few minutes the players were hardly distinguishable. The Sioux shoved over their first score early in the first quarter, and their fleet-footed back, Knauf, contributed two others later in the contest.

Although trailing 18-0 in the final quarter, the Wolves opened a desperate attack which netted them a score. After working the ball to the 47 yard line, Zelden heaved a long pass to "Beans" Carey, who battled over the line for the score.

The game was slowed up greatly by weather conditions, but this did not detract from its interest.

DETROIT

Once again the powerful Titans from Detroit came to the Crescent City for their sixth annual intersectional game with the Wolves of Loyola University. Having never won a game in



Lilley, Favret, Morris, J. Lopez, Knobloch, H. Winters

New Orleans, the Detroit eleven determined to end the tradition "Detroit wins not in New Orleans."

Arnaud Lopez, all-S. I. A. A. fullback, led the Wolves as captain in his last game. The game started and for the entire first quarter it seemed as though it would be a Loyola day. In the first few minutes of play, a pass, Zelden to Love, put the ball on the 5 yard line and Lopez took it over. A place-kick for the extra point was unsuccessful. The second Loyola score came at the end of the first quarter, when Tullos blocked a punt and Sam Love scooped it on the bounce and ran 40 yards for a touchdown.

This ended the Loyola scoring for the day. Near the end of the second quarter, Nott's brawny arm and accurate aim completed two long passes to Storrie. The last one being good for the first Detroit touchdown. The half ended with the Pack still leading, 12-7. The third quarter was scoreless, with both teams fighting valiantly. The powerful Detroit team in the final quarter, however, unleashed one of the most brilliant passing attacks ever seen in this part of the country, and through this medium they were able to score two more touchdowns.

All in all, the game was one of many thrills, with two powerful lines and two fast deceptive backfields using all the power and strategy they ever knew in order that their team may be victorious. When the final whistle blew, Detroit was the victor to the tune of 20-12.

* * * * * * * * *

Thus we have come to the end of another season of America's greatest sport, and win or lose are proud to record the engagements of the team of 1932. We have only now to await the coming of another year, to anxiously watch the successors of this year's edition, carry on in that same spirit that has always characterized Loyola elevens.

To the men of 1932—VALE; to those of '33—AVE.

FRESHMAN FOOTBALL

The freshman football call was issued by coach Ambrose Deddle during the first week of school and a likely and much spirited crowd of men eagerly responded. Under the direction of Coach Weddle and trainer Gormley, uniforms were issued and every one got right down to work.

Louis Lawrence was elected the captain of the squad and George Joint was chosen as alternate leader. Edward Gamard was given the position of Student Manager.

The first game of the freshman season was played in Monroe when the frosh engaged the Ouachita Junior College eleven. The Pack was victorious in this encounter by a score of 7 to 6. Joint and Roy stood out in the backfield while Finan, Moebes and Edmondson were the flashes in the line.

The second encounter found the Wolfpups meeting the Millsaps first-year aggregation. The Wolves came to the fore again and they downed the visitors 26 to 0.

Southeastern was the next victim of the frosh. They went down to defeat before the freshman onslaught to the tune of 14-7. The final encounter of the season found luck turning against us. The Poplarville Aggies stepped forward to trounce the Wolfpups, 18-6. This game terminated the freshman activities for the year '32 and from their activities we are sure that many will give the varsity men who return for season '33 a tussle for their positions.

The men who compose the freshman team are as follows: Lawrence (Capt.), Joint (Alt. Capt.), W. Roy, R. Rizzo, Pennington, Galle, Merchant, Edmondson, Moebes, Finnan, Ashford, Doyle, Fortier, Voelker, J. Miltenberger, G. Miltenberger, Lapeyrouse, Gorenflo, Ruello, Boudreaux, Brahny, Theriot, Alphonso, H. Smith, Arduengo, Traviesa, Dunn, Do Bell, Constanza, Gruber and Cosse.

VARSITY TRACK

Cinders are flying, pep and enthusiasm runs high, as the Loyola ambassadors of track and field prepare to make their bid for the sixth consecutive Southern Amateur Athletic Union title. Last year, in a most gruelling contest with the Louisiana State University team, champions of the Southern Conference, the Wolves eked out a victory, 53½ to 52½. The junior day representatives of Loyola won by a wide margin and the team as a whole finished third in the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association meet.

Following these victories for the team, two members departed for the west coast to represent the United States in the Olympic Games. To aid in the establishment of a world record in the 400-meter relay, Emmett Toppino, Loyola's king of speed, stepped a brilliant hundred meters to give the American anchor man a two-yard lead in the home stretch. Rolland Romero pitted his hop, step and jumping against the leaping Japanese, turning a very creditable performance.

George Leppert, veteran in the middle distances, was selected to captain this year's team and to fill the position heretofore occupied by Toppino and Hammond. George will defend his titles in the 440-yard and 800-meter races this year. Other varsity stars returning to carry the colors of the Maroon and Gold are Bob Hammond, star miler and winner in the A. A. U. meet. John Lilley, running his first year on the varsity, will attempt to better his time in the 400-meter this spring. John was credited with a 50-flat last year. Bob Pryor is another quarter-miler of repute.

VARSITY TRACK

Al Everett, Albert Rose, Bill Deasy and "Iron Horse" John Schiro will battle for the lead to the tape in the mile and two-mile runs. Claude Landry and Romero will handle the hurdles, while Bob Sarpy and Clarence Smith will attempt to plug up the sprint gap left open by the absence of Toppino. Tom Caillouette, weights; Frank Sullivan, discus and javelin; Charles Bailey, high jump; Romero, broad jump and hop, step, and jump, are the prominent field representatives.

Many newcomers to the varsity training quarters show prospects of capable additions to the Loyola team. As we go to press, the first participation in competition will be the Southwestern Louisiana Institute relay carnival in Lafayette, in the early part of April. Some dual meets are under consideration and the participation in the A. A. U. meets and S. I. A. A. championships.

With Tad behind the wheel and such a willing gathering of athletes, Loyola will be fittingly represented on the track and field in the coming season.

Freshmen

On the freshman roster are several stars of the prep school activities in the past year. Billy Roy, former Jesuit High pole vaulter; Gourdain, Voelker and Roy Smith, promising quarter milers; Rizzo and Bell, sprinters; Lawrence, javelin; and Loisel, a great miler who has already turned in a 4:26.5 1500 meters, are the stand-outs on the long list of candidates.

SCHMITTZ GORMLEY D. FLYNN

VARSITY BOXING

Carrying on the spirit and determination that has characterized Loyola boxing teams since the sport was inaugurated at the University in 1929, the members of the varsity team and prospective boxers swing into vigorous action in preparation for the season.

Under the direction of the able maestro, Tad Gormley, the squad is preparing for another campaign of titles and a glance at the daily workouts is most convincing of their coming success.

The team this year finds several veterans returning to battle once more for the Maroon and Gold. Dennis Flynn, brother of Eddie who this year is absent from the ranks, having taken to professional fighting after winning all the amateur crowns in his class, will represent the University in the 160 class. Dennis is the middleweight intercollegiate champion.

Roger Flynn, the third of the Flynns, is the representative in the welterweight division. He fully characterizes that pep and go which has been the traditional marks of "Flynnism" at Loyola.

Chester Schmittz is the light-heavyweight man of the squad and maintains an enviable record. Chester is a clean cut and hard-hitting fighter. He holds the A. A. U. championship and promises to carry on his sensational boxing in the coming season.

R. Flynn McHardy Byrnes

VARSITY BOXING

Bill McHardy is entering his second year of boxing and has a good record to date. In ten fights, Bill has been victorious in all but one. He lost a decision to Joe Donner in the A. A. U. fights last fall. McHardy fights featherweight.

Bentley Byrnes is the little fellow of the team and fights in the bantamweight class. Bentley is lacking in experience but this is made up in his aggressiveness and clever boxing. He is progressing rapidly and should finish the year with a good record.

In addition to these regular boxers, Tad is developing many excellent prospects in the intramural bouts that are being held at the present time. With the A. A. U. bouts coming, the Golden Gloves tournament, and some intercollegiate matches the Wolf mittmen are in for a busy few months.

In addition to the above activities, inter-city bouts are under consideration. These proved very attractive last year when the Wolf battlers and several other prominent amateur fighters teamed together to play host to teams from Cincinnati and St. Louis.

All in all, everything points to a most active season in boxing and as in the other athletic contests, Loyola will be well represented.

INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL

The intramural basketball league began January 9th and was characterized by enthusiastic and exciting play. Ten teams participated in the contests, representing all departments of the University. The league was under the supervision of trainer Gormley.

The play closed with the Beter's declared the winners. Captain Henry Beter was voted the most valuable player and received the alumni award.

In the all-star selection on the first and second teams the following men were named:

First Team		Second Team
H. Beter	Forward	P. Jones
W. Calhoun	Forward	J. Dutriex
F. Sullivan	Center	J. Sullivan

INTRAMURAL BOXING

The first Loyola intramural boxing show was presented at the Knights of Columbus Hall on February 14, when Tad Gormley presented ten bouts for the entertainment of the students and members of the K. C. It was marked by a large attendance who registered their approval of the affair by their "roof raising" applause.

The feature bouts of the evening were in the 160 and 126-pound class. Freddie Gisevius and Bill McHardy furnished fast and furious entertainment while Roy Bell and Earl Schmidt clashed in a hard punching performance. The cups for the best bouts went to Earl Schmidt and Bill McHardy, both winners in their engagements.

The other outstanding bout on the card was that of D. Pennington and Roger Flynn. Pennington, a newcomer, displayed a powerful and wicked left hand to completely bewilder Roger and bring him the decision.

The results were as follows:

N. Theriot won over A. C. DiBartolo	147 pounds
Billy Roy won over J. Lopez	175 pounds
F. Delaune won over A. Bloomstein	160 pounds
J. Matassa won over W. Maher	160 pounds
G. Leppert won over A. Rose	160 pounds
W. McHardy won over F. Gisevius	126 pounds
W. DoBell won over W. Schwartz	135 pounds
M. Braniff won over R. Cucchiara	126 pounds
E. Schmidt won over R. Bell	126 pounds
F. Sullivan won over E. Galle	Heavyweight
D. Pennington won over R. Flynn	160 pounds

H. Ridolfo was awarded a decision when his scheduled opponent was unable to enter the ring.

As the annual goes to press, Tad Gormley announces a second show under the auspices of the Alumni Association. Fifteen bouts are to feature the card and the winners in the various classes will be matched.

The tournaments, besides furnishing a pleasant evening, are stimulating the interest in boxing and bringing out many likely prospects to represent the Maroon and Gold in the Golden Gloves tournament that will be held later in the spring.

VARSITY DEBATE SQUAD

Loyola's varsity debate squad closed its 1932 season with a record of six victories, two defeats and two no-decision debates after contests with some of the leading universities and colleges in the South.

At home the speakers representing Baylor University, the University of Florida, the Mississippi State College for Women and Emory College fell before the logic and eloquence of the Loyola forensic artists.

On the road, Loyola speakers were victorious in their encounters with the University of Tennessee at Knoxville, and Howard College at Birmingham.

The two defeats came as a result of encounters with Southwestern Presbyterian College of Memphis in a debate held in New Orleans, and with the University of Mississippi at Oxford, Miss.

Two no-decision debates were held, one with Birmingham-Southern College in Birmingham, and the other in Memphis with the Southwestern College team.

Felicien Lozes, Robert A. Ainsworth and Leo C. Zinser comprised the first ranking team. This trio won the honor of making the road trip. C. Paul Barker and Harry Herman were the two other members of the squad. Each competed in one home debate, and although it marked their first public debate as a representative of Loyola, both came through splendidly in their baptism of fire.

The Debate Society began its 1933 season with a political forum in Marquette auditorium a few days before the presidential election. In this debate, Felicien Lozes and Leo C. Zinser, upholding the candidacy of Herbert C. Hoover, won the audience decision as the best team of speakers, over John F. Connolly and John Dullenty, upholding Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Roosevelt, however, was the almost unanimous choice of the personal vote of the audience for the presidency. Fireworks, banners and campaign posters, along with music by the Loyola orchestra was an added feature to the program. An audience of more than 300 persons attended. All arrangements for the forum were under the direction of Edward Lucas.

As the 1933 WOLF goes to press, the debaters are anticipating another successful season. Tentative debates are scheduled with the University of Florida, the University of Dayton, Rollins College, Louisiana State University, and the University of Miami. Arrangements are also being made for several other debates with teams that have been on the Loyola schedule in former years.

ELABORATE SIGNA OF LOYOLA ADDED AS CLIMAX TO WORK

By John Nugent

The splendid work of the Marquette Alumni Association in improving the main floor of Marquette Hall was culminated Tuesday with the setting of the long-awaited University seal.

For the past few weeks, students coming to classes via the main entrance of the hall have cast many an expectant glance at the vacant space left for the seal by the marble floor setters, hoping to be the first to view Loyola's decorative emblem.

Finally and unheralded, it came, resplendent in all the beauty of its fifteen colors and thousands of small tiles, the official signa of Loyola University, New Orleans, La., as depicted in Latin on a circumference of black and white, with the date of the founding of the school written in formal Roman numerals, 1912.

At the top of the seal and just within the rim of identification, is the shield of the Society of Jesus—the black letters I. H. S., "Jesus Saviour of Men," on a shield of light blue.

To the left and right, and slightly lower than the shield of the Society, appear two "Fleur de Lys" in immaculate white, representing the French origin of Louisiana and the work of the French Jesuits in Colonial French Louisiana.

Suspended from the shield of the Jesuit Order by golden chains, hangs a pot surrounded by two snarling wolves which go to form the symbol of the name Loyola, Lobo, the wolf, and olla, the pot,—"Lobo y Olla," the coat of arms of the Spanish House of St. Ignatius Loyola, or euphonically—Loyola.

Just below this may be seen the familiar figure of the mother Pelican feeding her young with blood from her breast, the standard of the State of Louisiana. The mother bird and her young are in natural color, white, whilst the blood on the beaks of the young and the breast and beak of the other Pelicans is a deep red. The nest of the Pelicans is of a brownish red.

The standards of the Jesuit Society, the ancient House of Loyola, and of the State of Louisiana, are set on a large inner shield of deep maroon color, which is surrounded at its corners next to the rim, with a filling of dark green. Finally, just below the scene of the mother Pelican and her young, appears the legend "Deo et Patriae," For God and Country, in black letters on a field of light blue; this last gives an appropriate finish to the seal, indicating the purpose of Loyola University in its educational work.

As already mentioned, the seal was the last of a series of innovations in Marquette Hall which included the installation of a first flooring of white Alabama marble in place of the former wood flooring that was removed upon the discovery of Rev. Albert Biever, S.J., University Chaplain, and noted natural scientist in New Orleans, that it was being undermined by termites, and threatened the structure of the building. It has been announced by Rev. J. A. Greeley, S.J., Activities Director, that the Gothic wrought-iron chandelier, another of the Hall improvements at the foot of the main stairway, will be accompanied by more of its kind within a short time.

FIRST COUNCIL CO-EDS ADMITTED

College of Music Girls Are Officially Recognized by Student Rulers.

By action of the Loyola Student Council, three co-eds from the College of Music were admitted to the Council at a meeting held on Tuesday, November 15. Lawrence Babst, president, announced that the Council action set a precedent in that this is the first time in the history of Loyola University that co-eds have been admitted to the student governing group.

The girls admitted are Elma May Chopin, senior, secretary of the French Club and vice-president of Sigma Alpha, musical sorority; Dolores Kennedy, junior, and Mary Badger, sophomore. Miss Badger is specializing in voice, while the other representatives are specializing in piano.

The new council representatives who are eager to resume their new responsibilities, will take the oath of office at next Tuesday's meeting of the Student Council. Dr. Ernest E. Schuyten, Dean of Music, passed upon the ability of the girls to shoulder these responsibilities prior to the Council admittance.

THIS AND THAT

"The Bishop's Jaegers"

By Thorne Smith

The author of such well-known books as "The Night Life of the Gods," "Turnabout" and "Topper Takes a Trip" has come forth this month with "The Bishop's Jaegers"—the most irrepressible book of them all.

Thorne Smith has two great qualities which make him a first-rank author. The first is an amazingly good vocabulary which he uses to good advantage, and the other is a clever way of saying commonplace things in hilarious fashion.

There are some who would look askance at his subject matter. In a way I agree with them, but on the other hand he, like Shakespeare (if you'll pardon the comparison), has a way of removing anything that could be considered really objectionable. Although there is nothing particularly edifying in a bishop's jaegers—or anyone else's jaegers—yet Smith manages to keep the jaegers respectable at all times. (P. S. We didn't know what jaegers were either until we looked in the dictionary.)

Smith never violates any ethical law. He does put his tongue in his cheek in regard to certain relatively unimportant conventions, and as long as he continues to respect fundamental law he will remain one of the cleaner American authors, despite his well-earned reputation for irrepressibility.

As to the idea behind the book, it seems to me that it is a very clever demonstration of the absolute infeasibility of nudism as advocated by certain unthinking modernists. Smith admits (and so do we) that the average American pays entirely too much attention to clothes in general, but there is always that thing known as a happy medium. And the happy medium must be considered.

Smith is capable of producing dialogue which should be the standard for modern comedy. The joke of the ferry boat in the fog is the best single crack we have read since the Olsen crack in "She's a Sheik."

All in all, this book should give any reader moments of hearty laughter. And in these times of universal depression, what else can we ask of a writer?

FORM PERMANENT DANCE COMMITTEE

Second University Dance of the Year Scheduled to be Held December 2.

Following the formation of a permanent dance committee at a meeting in the Gothic tea room on Tuesday, November 15, announcement of the second all-university gym dance was made. The second "hop" of the year will be held on December 2 in the Loyola gymnasium. Practically the same manner of procedure as was followed at the first dance will be observed on this occasion.

At the meeting, called for the purpose of creating a concrete organization which would take care of all future dances, J. Skelly Wright, member of Blue Key, president of Alpha Delta Gamma, junior law student and business manager of the Maroon, was selected as chairman of the permanent committee. Lawrence F. Babst, Blue Key, president of Upsilon Beta Lambda, and president of the Student Council, was named secretary; and Edward J. Lucas, treasurer of Blue Key and editor of the Wolf, was chosen treasurer of the committee.

The meeting was called by Rev. Ronald A. MacDonald, S.J., director of student activities, who served as chairman pro tem of the committee which sponsored the last dance. Speaking of the inauguration of the new system of student dances, Father MacDonald said:

"The success of the inaugural hop was indeed reassuring, and we hope that the dances in the future will be as well supported and as well conducted as was the first one. We feel sure that the dances will serve two-fold purpose of building up the finances of student activities and increasing good feeling among the students."

NERO FIDDLED WHILE ROME BURNED, BUT SO DID THESE FROSH

By Emile A. Wagner, Jr.

This town may not be so "hot" but you can't prove it by Tom Corridan and Jerry Fitzpatrick, two freshmen in the Arts and Science department.

In fact, they will tell you that if it's the weather you're referring to, that few places could possibly be as warm as dear old New Orleans, especially at night.

It seems that the tranquility of an early Sunday morning and more particularly the restful slumber of these two ardent students was broken some time around 4:30 by the discordant sound of fractured glass.

Tom was the first to awaken, and seeing that Fitz was still fondly clasped in the arms of Morpheus nudged him in the ribs and whispered: "Somebody broke a glass in the apartment; I think we're being robbed," to which Fritz answered: "In that case, don't you think it would be wise to go back to sleep"; and this they would have done had not a faint smell of smoke come to the nostrils of the redoubtable Tom.

"I think there must be a fire in the neighborhood somewhere," with which he promptly got out of bed and raised a window. "Don't jump," cried Fitz, "you'll cut your feet on all those broken bottles."

But Corridan had no intention of jumping. As he raised the window, he looked down in the yard below, for the apartment was on the second floor, with a garage below, and there he saw a man frantically running up and down. "Hey, where's the fire," Corridan called.

The man looked as if he were struck dumb, and then when he found his tongue, he screamed, "The garage is on fire, you're standing over it. Jump for your life."

But Corridan, remembering Fitzpatrick's counsel chose another window, with that other worthy following closely on his heels. He, without hesitation, jumped and landed squarely on a bicycle, red and white pajamas and all. Undoubtedly Fate deserved the harsh words that were now bestowed upon her, but remembering Fitz still in the burning building, Tom yelled: "Come on, Fitz, jump." To which Fitz replied: "Move the darn thing," referring to the bicycle. "I'd as soon burn to death, as break my neck."

And so, there at the foot of the burning building, these two "Flaming Youths" stood, one in red and white, and the other in purple and gold and watched the fire to the bitter end. You can't tell them that there wasn't a hot time in the old town that night.

NATIONAL COLLEGE PRESS CONVENTION

The National College Press Association convened for the annual national convention in New Orleans during Mardi Gras week. The Tulane Hullabaloo and the Loyola Maroon were hosts at the convention, and many dinners and dances were enjoyed by the visitors.

A special luncheon was given to the delegates by Loyola at the Gothic Grill on the campus. Members of the Maroon staff acted as hosts.

The convention opened officially at ten o'clock on the morning of Sunday, February 26, on the Tulane campus. A speech of greeting was given by the Rev. John W. Hynes, S.J., President of Loyola. The convention closed, after a continuous round of banquets, dances, meetings and tours, at the Comus Ball on Mardi Gras night.

The convention was composed of student editors of the principal universities of the United States. The out-going officials were the Tulane Hullabaloo, president, the Alabama Crimson-White, vice-president, the Pittsburgh Panther and the Colgate Maroon. The new officials had not as yet been elected when the Wolf went to press.

The official hosts and delegates to the convention from the Loyola Maroon were Paul Capdevielle, editor-in-chief, Felicien Lozes, associate editor, and J. Skelly Wright, business manager.

THEATRICAL ACTIVITIES

The theatrical activities of Loyolans continued this year at last year's high peak. The closing Thespian production of the 1931-1932 season, given just before the end of school, was "Not Herbert," a three-act mystery-comedy. Principals in the cast were Carl Buchmann, Amelie Buchmann, Jean Owin, Marian Oulliber, Al Leach, Joe Douglas, Gudrun Hansen, John Schilleci, and A. P. Schiro, III.

The French Club of Loyola presented, as their initial offering, LaBiche and Martin's three-act satire "La Poudre Aux Yeux" on February 3, 1933. This was the first play to be presented in French at Loyola in years. The cast included Homer Dupuy, Elma May Chopin, Lucien Delery, Louis Gueniot, Adrian Johnson, Inez Becknell, Yvonne Galatoire, Louise de Tarnowsky, Paul Capdevielle, John Kron and Louis Prejean.

As the Wolf goes to press, the Spanish Club is considering plays in Spanish suitable for production at Loyola, and the Thespians announce the selection of "The Show-Off" as their first play of the new season.

Outside plays, in which Thespians and other Loyolans have scored hits, include: John Oulliber, ex-Thespian, as Dr. Lewis in the Moss Hart-Kauffmann satire, "Once in a Lifetime," Felicien Lozes, Thespian, in the title role in the world premiere of Oliver LaFarge's "Laughing Boy," John Oulliber and Leo C. Zinser, Thespians, in Anton Tchkev's "The Cherry Orchard," Leo Zinser in "Echoes," Al Leach, Thespian, in "The Bad Man" and "Pierre Petelin," and Felicien Lozes in the American premiere of G. B. Stern's "The Man Who Pays the Piper." All of these productions were those of Le Petit Theatre du Vieux Carre.

The Algiers Little Theatre starred a Thespian, John Brechtel, in "The White Sister" and in the world premiere of "The Southern Buccaneer," based upon Lyle Saxon's "Lafitte, the Pirate." This organization also starred Lloyd Salathe in "The Charm School" and Julia Sierra and Lloyd Salathe in "East Is West."

LOYOLA DEBATE TEAM

The Loyola Debate Team of 1931-1932, composed of Felicien Lozes, Leo C. Zinser and Robert A. Ainsworth, Jr., completed a successful debate season last Spring with victories over the University of Florida (for the second consecutive year), the University of Tennessee, Baylor and Emory. As the Wolf goes to press, a new debate season is being planned by the Rev. William F. Harty, S.J., moderator of the society. At the present time Florida, Baylor and the University of Utah are on the Loyola schedule. Two new members of the team this year are Paul Barker and Harold Herman.

Felicien Lozes, president of the Debate Society, tied for second place in the George Washington National Oratorical finals held in Washington, D. C., the last week of June as part of the bi-centennial celebration. Lozes chose as his subject: "George Washington, First in Peace."

There were participants from nine of the leading universities of the nation. James R. Moore, of Washington and Lee, won first place, Lozes winning over finalists from Fordham, Northwestern, Georgia, North Dakota and other leading universities.

The "Nut Farm" Is Presented Here

Loyola Performance Is Third Presentation of Guild Play.

Before an audience composed of students and friends of the university, the St. Stephen's Histrionic Guild, under the auspices of the Loyola Auxiliary Student Council, presented "The Nut Farm," a three-act comedy, in Marquette Auditorium, Monday night at 8:30 o'clock.

The play dealt with the American motion picture industry, depicting "Willie Barton's great struggle for moving picture fame."

The show was under the direction of Helen C. Cahill. The cast included: Eleanor Lanigan as Mrs. Barton; Jerome Dearie as Willie Barton; John Daspit as Robert Bent; Edward Driscoll as Ezra Sliscomb; Noelie Aviles as Helen Bent; Martha Power as Hilda; Driscoll Daspit as Hamilton T. Holland; Margaret Drown as Agatha Sliscomb; Joseph Lalla as J. Clarence Bidderford; and Raymond Boudreaux as Harold Van Horton.

New Transmitter Opened Sunday With Ceremonies

Many Celebrities Take Part In

Dedication of New Loyola Station.

Following the installation of equipment which rivals that of Rockefeller's famed Radio City in the city of New York, "WWL," Loyola of the South, began activities in its new studios and from its new transmitter Sunday, October 2 with a blessing by the Most Rev. John W. Shaw, D.D., archbishop of New Orleans, and with dedicatory talks to the radio audience by leading religious, political and business figures of New Orleans.

The first program broadcast over the new station was the High Mass from the Church of the Most Holy Name of Jesus, on the Loyola campus, at 10 a. m. Sunday morning. During the afternoon of the first day of operations, talks commending the progress made by the station and congratulating it on its advances, were made by Hon. T. Semmes Walmsley, mayor of New Orleans; Seymour Weiss, manager of the Roosevelt Hotel, and representative of Senator Huey P. Long, and by Rev. Wallace Burk, S.J.

Captain Arthur C. Pritchard, program director of WWL, announced that the station has microphones installed in the Loew's State theatre, the Church of the Most Holy Name of Jesus, Kress' department store, Krauss' department store, and in the Briede funeral parlors.

Captain Pritchard also announced that a staff orchestra, a staff trio and a news commentator have been appointed. The new station will maintain studios in the Roosevelt Hotel, where all artists will work, while the actual mechanical transmission of the programs will be through the new transmitter located on the Jefferson Highway, near Kenner, La., eleven miles from New Orleans.

SPORT SYLLABI

By JOHNNY CONNOLLY

Loyola's Great Team

We have a football team of which we can well be proud. The students and the rooters know it, and the members of the team know it, too. Coach Shaughnessy, standing before the student body prior to the Rice game said: "Never before in my career have I encountered a group of young men more ambitious, more willing and more capable than these standing before you students of Loyola; nor have I seen any group more devoted to Loyola and to one another in the spirit of accomplishment and co-operation than the Loyola standard-bearers of 1932."

Higher tribute cannot be given to any football team. As far as I know, Coach has never before paid such tribute to any other team. He is extremely discreet in his praise and when it pours forth as above it is certainly very much deserved.

In Dutch with the Daughters of Zeus—Temporarily

Is it alibi-ing to comment on bad breaks? It should not be considered so, for the breaks are a necessary, vital element in every great ball game. Often they win or lose a game; often they make or break a team.

It is indeed unfortunate that the breaks turned the rough edge on the team these last two weeks. Undoubtedly, that tying touchdown by "Cop Cop" would have put the Baylor game in a different light. The penalty was a blow on the chin that would have staggered any man's team. On top of it came the Rice game in which Lady Technicality snatched victory from the teeth of the Wolves on two distinct occasions.

That that is all in football goes without saying. Tears are out of order. In football a good team is one that can take 'em as well as give 'em. And when a team can take a frown from the Parcae like the Wolves have taken and then come back and with the score 14-0 against them, work riot through the best team in the Southwestern Conference,—that is a real football team.

St. Louis Is Good—But So Are We

Edward Shaughnessy after scouting the Billikens' 20-6 victory over the University of Wyoming tells us that if we think Rice was to be feared, St. Louis is at least two touchdowns better than Rice!

Sure, we're in for a battle with the Billikens and everybody knows it. But let's look at things as they are. First consider that Loyola outgained Rice in yards from scrimmage and passes completed according to integral statistics of the game. Moreover, in the second half, the Wolves had the ball on the offense for 24 out of 30 minutes of play, made ten first downs, to one for the Owls, had the ball on the Rice doorstep all the time, made bids for two touchdowns that were repulsed, scored one that was discounted, and then piled on another which no rule could dispute.

If St. Louis is two touchdowns better than the Owls, the Wolves still figure a few points better than the Billikens.

The Staff of this, the tenth, volume of the Wolf wants to express its thanks and appreciation to those who so earnestly cooperated with it in the publication of this annual.

To the Benson Printing Company, the Wrigley Engraving Company, and the Varenholt Studios, the faculty and students of Loyola University as well as our patrons and advertisers, we bow in appreciation of their aid.

This is the final opportunity that your editor will have of laboring for the students and Loyola. It is his sincerest hope that this, his final effort, will serve as a written memory for those who this year take their leave.

EDWARD J. LUCAS,
Editor.

Marooned

By Fill and Refill

HAWAII (and other geographical greetings)

Ladies and gentlemen, the feature act of the evening: we present for your amusement and edification those two wisecrackers par excellence, those unparalleled gloom chasers, Loyola's premier columnists (dirt-slingers)—FILL and REFILL.

EUREKA!

Inasmuch as it seems to be the custom for columnists to go on record as having discovered something, we wish to go on record as having discovered a reason for the building of the proposed Mississippi river bridge, to-wit: It will act as a preventative in the future for those vaudeville actors who are continually pulling that crack about Algiers being Heaven—N. B. (Vaudevillians and Milo Williams please notice).

DIRT, PURE AND SIMPLE
(mostly simple)

We understand that Perry Booth won some kinda championship for which he was presented with a silver stein . . . a certain young lady suggests that Paul (Willie) Capdevielle be vamped . . . Ed Shaheen is still refusing offers to go to Hollywood . . . Ed Seghers says that it was a blessed event when this column happened . . . now that the College of Music has furnished the campus with some co-eds, the L. A. S. C. should have some competition . . . with the accent on the some . . . Psi Omega entertained with a house warming at their new house last week . . . U. B. L. (Unwanted Brothers of Loyola) entertained with a house wrecking party the same week-end . . . while on the subject of frats, we also thought that when Delta Phi Sigma changed its name to Alpha Delta Gamma, they should have made it Alpha Delta Sigma, so we could have called it "A Darn Shame" . . . The Glee Club held three meetings the other day, the first in the morning, the second at noon, and the last (and from all reports the absolute last) when Dr. Schuyten, new dean of the College of Music, passed out when passing on the respective singing abilities of the members . . . it is rumored that Jimmy Miltenberger, of the Class of '36, will give Loyola's foremost imbibers some competition with the coming of the colder weather . . . the other night when the stands were waving their handkerchiefs at the time-keeper, who in turn waved his, we almost went nuts trying to figure who was in the business . . . and speaking of co-eds, we're glad that there are some good looking ones parking on the campus this year.

SIGNING OFF

Well, boys and girls, if we're still alive after that pure and simple dirt appears, we'll sling some more next week. This is Fill and Refill signing off . . . Yours for dirt and more of it. . . .

Cheerio,
FILL and REFILL.

HIGHLIGHTS OF HOUSTON

By EDW. J. LUCAS

Editor's Note: Like last Spring's "Sidelights of New Siberia," Mr. Lucas is writing some of the happenings of the Houston trip. Mr. Lucas proved to be such a dirt-gatherer that Fill and Refill are kindly donating their space for this one week. "Marooned by Fill and Refill" will be resumed with next week's issue. This "Highlight" column is written in fun and it is expected that the victims will take it in the same light. Nothing serious is intended.

Hail Houston:

Congratulations to Houston, the Rice Hotel, the bus drivers, etc. Your courtesies to the Loyola supporters were greatly appreciated. We thank you again.

It is such receptions as were accorded us that go to make a trip enjoyable. The freedom of the hotel, the admirable spirit of the management, the city officials for assistance in our parade, the University Club and Rice Institute will linger long in our memory.

Hail Supporters:

Here are the boys who deserve the credit. Almost as one they yelled at the game. From a point of comparison they outyelled Rice and we are looking forward to such spirit in the future games. Yes, sir, it was great. Keep it up, upperclassmen and freshmen.

Bravo, Shaughnessy:

Hats off to the Wolf coach. It was a great Loyola team that took the field against Rice and outfought and outplayed them from start to finish. Rounding to their peak of play they should travel against the remainder of their opponents.

Jimmy Provost, a Loyola fan, wanted to know if car B was a sleeper or a smoker. Judging from the noise it sounded like a cattle car.

"Who brought the blonde?" (Not my date.)

Five hundred and eighty-seven made the trip. Five hundred and eighty-six returned. Five hundred and eighty-five glasses of cool, delicious, red tomato juice were served in the cafeteria of the Rice Hotel before eleven o'clock Saturday morning.

"He should be shot!" (Not me.)

Hipolite Ridolfo was pushed off the train at New Iberia. Which accounts for the single deficiency in the above statistical account. His trumpet was salvaged by John Connolly in the baggage car. You'll get it eventually, Hip.

"Who brought the referee?"

In spite of all the decisions and whatnot, Lloyd Gregory of the Houston Post Dispatch says that the Loyola line play was the best seen in action on a Texas field in many a year. We might add that the backs showed some classy form. Monk Zeldon, Arnie Lopez, Paul Jones and that Dennis Miller did go places.

"He should be shot!"

Word comes to us that Miss Peggy McGivney, the fortune teller of the L. A. S. C. coach, read as the future for Miss Mignon Deynoodt a happy home, crowded with four blessed events and all boys.

"Who brought that — — —?"

"Horselaugh," better known as Bill Jaquith, took so many aspirins that people began to call him Bayer. He reports having investigated the home of Eddie Shaheen and saw the Mayor of Lake Charles meet their favorite at the train and shake that proverbial hand.

"He shou'd be shot."

We sympathize with the Pullman porters. They have gone through their purgatory, putting out those boys who insisted in sleeping in Pullmans that were NOT paid for. Reports have it that Spike Connolly was thrown out so many times that he offered the porter to get in and sleep and let him (Spike) throw him out for a change.

"Who broke that vestibule window?"

Will Val Flanagan of the States kindly explain the lipstick and vanity in the pocket—and why roaming around the train looking for his suit? Hold it, Val, hold it, hold it.

"He should be shot!"

Tiny Dronilhet was the pacifier of the crew. Many hours were spent in keeping the boisterous men quiet. Good work, Tiny.

"Who broke open that feather pillow?"

Loyolans noted at the University Club dance after the game: Alice Moryant, Aida Grundmann, Jimmy Steiner, Felicien Lozes, Paul Capdevielle, Mignon Deynoodt, John Connolly, Olga Roussel, Leo Zinser and others. Stan Cowley, New Orleans' gift to Rice Institute, acted as Master of Introduction.

"He should be shot!"

Gib MacDonald, while crossing the river, decided to display his something or other by throwing all of Jimmy Steiner's loose change (which Mr. MacDonald was holding for "safe keeping") into the good old Mississippi.

"He should be shot!"

Homer Dupuy, for no apparent reason, went to bed in the wrong berth. When the two gentlemen who owned the berth, Paul Capdevielle and Felicien Lozes, came in a couple of hours later, they were forced to place Mr. Dupuy in another berth. A few minutes later Mr. Dupuy was again removed. Rumor has it he awoke at sunrise in the baggage car.

"Who cracked me over the head with that shoe?"

Lloyd Salathe, after refusing to sing "Sweet Sue," decided to hunt for "a Loyola sticker with a lot of suitcases on it." Which may explain why he was found with three electric light bulbs, obtained mysteriously, in his coat pocket. Lucian Gilbert explained he wanted to test their watts after he got home. Watta man!

"She should be shot!"

Yours truly, while roaming about the ninth floor of the Rice Hotel in search of copy, met one Mr. Williams from Rochester, N. Y., who, voicing his opinion, says: "The greatest bunch of figters I have seen in a long time (on the train?). They shou'd have won the game, but the breaks beat them."

Room 1329 ? ? ? ?

Larry Babst was seen eating in a 5c hash house, and resting in a $6.00 room. Whatta man, whatta man? ?

Loyola Band Plays Patriotic Tunes Between Different Speeches

Before a packed auditorium of yelling and booing citizens the Hoover debaters won a spirited stump forum over the Roosevelt candidates in Loyola's first political debate lecture held and sponsored by the Debate Society in Marquette Hall on Wednesday, November 2. Roosevelt, however, won the personal nomination for president by a huge majority. The final personal vote was: Roosevelt, 146; Hoover, 38; Thomas, 7, and Al Smith, 1. In the debate the Hoover men won by a score of 145 to 84 for Roosevelt.

Felicien Lozes and Leo C. Zinser, president and vice-president of the debate society, respectively, won the debate for Hoover with impassioned speeches. John F. Connolly and John Dullenty stumped for Franklin D. Roosevelt. Carl G. Buchmann acted as chairman.

Leo C. Zinser opened the forum with a speech in favor of the President of the United States. "What is the cause of this depression?" Zinser asked of the audience. "The inflated crisis which the World War brought us, a war into which a democratic president—our last democratic president—led us after promising faithfully to keep us out of it."

"America has had more popular presidents, America has had presidents better versed in the art of petty politics, presidents better able to dramatize themselves and their actions; but America has had no president who acted more swiftly, with surer decision, achieved more, and in the face of overwhelming danger, where failure meant nation-wide disaster, more fully measured up to the requirements of leadership than Herbert Hoover."

"Making a change is always dangerous business, my friends. Back in 1918 we were dissatisfied with the liquor traffic and we threw ourselves into prohibition. Then, too, in 1917, we were dissatisfied with the world and we undertook to make it safe for democracy. Changes are dangerous, and let me remind you that it is a bad policy to change from the elephant to the jackass in the middle of the stream."

John Connolly was the first speaker for the democrats. "Herbert Hoover has passed from an attitude of 'say-nothing' during his first three years in the White House to an attitude of blindness toward the needs of the masses," said Connolly.

"I indict Herbert Hoover and the Republican Administration not only for treacherous inactivity, but moreover for three vital issues affecting every man, woman, and child in America. They are (1) The Republicans, while America was starving, have lacked the moral courage to tell the people of Europe that they must pay their debts; (2) When international trade languished the Republicans, in accordance with their outworn methods, put up the tariff walls, thus causing resentment in importing countries and making matters infinitely worse; (3) Washington has done absolutely nothing to restore the purchasing power of fifty million people who live on farms and in small towns."

Felicien Lozes closed the Republican arguments. "It's no time for donkey business, my friends," he shouted, "it's an elephant's job to run this government. And, believe you me, an elephant in the White House is worth a dozen jackasses in the bush."

"I want to tell each and every one of you tonight that the Republicans want beer as much as the democrats," said Lozes in attempting to prove the misleading qualities of the Democratic campaign slogan, "We Want Beer." "What's more we, the Republicans, want wine and whiskey, too. To change a constitutional amendment is a matter for the Congress and the States to decide, not the president, whoever he may be. He is not even allowed to SEE the bill. So don't let the Democrats use a beer barrel to ram open the doors of the White House."

John Dullenty closed the debate with an appeal for the support of Franklin D. Roosevelt. "We are going to put Hoover and the Republicans back in New England where they belong," proclaimed Dullenty. "The Republicans couldn't pay the soldiers their bonus. Yet America passed the prohibition amendment while our boys were in France fighting for her. The boys couldn't get a decent drink when they got back. Well, I'm going to vote for Franklin D. Roosevelt for only one thing—he is going to give me something decent to drink. I'm tired of drinking this rot-gut stuff. If you can see one good thing prohibition has done, I'd like to know what it is. Hoover is spending so much time and money on foolish attempts at prohibition enforcement that we have to get gangsters to help find the Lindbergh murderers. The Republicans couldn't even get Al Capone on a liquor charge. They had to indict him on a tax charge. They knew they couldn't get him on a liquor charge because it might involve some of our highest Republican officials."

During the forum the Loyola band played patriotic airs. A fireworks display was given on the campus in front of Marquette Hall preceding the debate.

Highlights of Houston

It was the band room.

The same fortune teller aforementioned said that Eddie Shaheen was destined to forsake his freedom via the middle aisle and the place to be Hollywood. How about the movie contract? Any connection?

We're running out of cracks.

The BIG thing missing on the Houston trip was TIM DUGGAN.

As usual, whatta man "Clark Gable" Cavell was the idol of the feminine sex. Gimme a break, Alex, and tell me how it was done.

Others on the trip were: Misses Red Morvant, Theo Weber, Shirley Peyrefitte, Rose Turci, Jean Owin, Helen Bursley, Millie Bond, Rose Mary Cippen, Grace Lawson, Audry Black, Marie Burguieres, Mignon Deynoodt, Lilian Trorlicht, Stella Harrigan, Melodia Nix, Peggy McGivney, Louise Easton, Amelie Buchmann and others.

QUESTIONS: With what red-head and blonde did Lucian (John) Gilbert and Alex (Clark Gable) Cavell, respectively and respectfully, spend the entire trip homeward? . . . Who was left at Orange? . . . Did Jack Grant or Paul Cussen win the endurance contest? . . . What petite member of the L. A. S. C. did "Sally" Salathe miss on the trip? . . . Who was that lady with Lee LeBlanc? . . . Who were the guys playing Tarzan on the emergency cord? . . . Who blew that trumpet at 5 a.m.? . . . And what couple began dancing in the baggage car at sunrise Sunday? . . . Why did Leo "Casey" Zinser and Rose Turci see the sunrise from the observation platform? . . . And just from whom did said Casey win two bucks in what poker game? . . . Why hasn't Paul Cussen any faith in olive oil any more? . . .Why did Benitez start that "cuckoo" game? . . . What famous co-ed did Eldon Majoue mimic? . . . Why didn't the paraders march in a straight line? . . . Where did Frank Tullos get that Eskimo coat? . . . What did Ed. Shaheen do with that rice? . . . Who couldn't eat that stuff in Kelley's? . . . Where was Joe Weggmann invited to? . . . What did Abram Diaz want to remove from the aisle? . . . Who thought Beaumont was Houston and was all bothered about not being dressed yet? . . . Who and what did Sal'y Strayhan and "Red" Gremillion have in their room in the Rice Hotel? . . . Who was Rose Turci afraid of seeing? . . . Carl Buchmann wants to know who he was running up and down the aisles with Friday night?

Al Fin

Well, that's all that this scribe could see or hear with only two ears and two eyes, so here's hoping you have some idea of the Houston trip.
